Student, External Contractors and Volunteers Working With Children 12-month Refresher Induction Record

Introduction

C&K is committed to the health, safety and wellbeing of children, employees, and all visitors, including student, external contractors and volunteers working with children. To maintain this commitment, any student, external contractor or volunteer working with children must complete a refresher induction every 12 months while they continue to work or volunteer in a C&K centre.

At C&K, child protection and safeguarding is a shared commitment – across leadership, governance, employees, families and centre visitors such as external contractors with children. As a signatory to the Queensland Government's Statement of Shared Commitment, C&K recognises that every interaction counts in creating an environment where children feel safe, secure and self-confident.

This form is completed by the student, external contractor or volunteer alongside the centre Director/Nominated Supervisor or Responsible Person in Charge (RPIC).

Child Health, Safety and Safeguarding	Associated C&K policies and procedures
Child protection and safeguarding is a shared responsibility at C&K, across leadership, governance, C&K Representatives, and families. As a signatory to the Queensland Statement of Shared Commitment, C&K recognises that every interaction counts in creating learning and care environments where children feel safe, secure and self-confident. C&K embrace this safeguarding culture and enforce our zero tolerance for any abusive or inappropriate actions. We do this by creating inclusive, culturally safe, and nurturing environments where children are empowered to thrive through quality relationships and voice their perspectives with confidence, knowing that they will be heard and taken seriously. C&K's commitment to child protection and safeguarding aligns with the National Principles for Child Safe Organisations, Queensland Child Safe Standards and the Universal Principle for Cultural Safety. Safeguarding Students, External Contractor or Volunteer will: ☐ Always treat children with care, respect and dignity. ☐ Remain within the line of sight of a C&K educator at all times. ☐ Take all reasonable precautions to protect children from harm and hazard. ☐ Read appendix 2 of this procedure for child protection and abuse types and definitions. ☐ Immediately report centre child safety concerns to the Centre Director / Nominated Supervisor or RPIC. If the concern, disclosure, or complaint is not addressed, escalate it to C&K Central 3552 5300 feedback@candk.asn.au. ☐ Immediately escalate to the Centre Director/Nominated Supervisor or RPIC AND make a report to Child Safety (Regional Intake Service Department of Child Safety Seniors and Disability Services) if you have reasonable suspicion a child has suffered, is suffering or is at unacceptable risk of suffering, significant harm and there is not a parent/guardian willing and able to protect the child from harm. ☐ Immediately stop working and inform C&K if your 'working with children check' (Blue Card) is suspended, expired, cancelled or become a Restricted Person under the Queensland Blue Card System. ☐ Understand their responsibilities under the Reportable Conduct Scheme, including their duty to report immediately any concerns relating to child safety and wellbeing. ☐ Immediately escalate child safety concerns (including allegations of child harm occurring at a centre) to the Centre Director/Nominated Supervisor or RPIC. If the concern, disclosure, or complaint is not addressed, escalate report to C&K Central - 3552 5300 feedback@candk.asn.au. C&K is required by legislation to report and investigate worker misconduct conduct to regulatory bodies such as the Queensland Department of Education (under the Education and Care Services National Law and Regulations) AND the Queensland Family and Child Commission (under the Reportable Conduct Scheme/Child Safe Organisation Act 2024 from 1 July 2026 Children's health and safety Student, External Contractor or Volunteer will: ☐ Role model and support sun-safe practices. - Grooming involves a person manipulating a child, their parents or guardians and/or significant persons such as teachers and educators to gain trust, build rapport and establish control to create opportunities to sexually abuse the child. Grooming often occurs gradually and may take in person or online. Grooming behaviours may include (but are not limited to):
 - Building the child's trust by offering presents, special attention, treats or opportunities to spend time together. This may involve playing games or engaging in non-sexual physical contact to build familiarity and comfort.
 - Showing favouritism by treating a child as more special or mature than others or giving one child excessive attention to the exclusion of others.
 - Gaining the trust of adults by presenting as caring, reliable, and trustworthy to reduce suspicion and increase access to the child.
 - Creating secrecy through comments such as "This is just between us" or other actions that discourage the child from sharing information.

- Testing boundaries by engaging in seemingly innocent physical contact that escalates over time into inappropriate or sexualised behaviour (e.g. rough play, wrestling, or touching private body parts).
- Shaping the child's perceptions by confusing their understanding of what is appropriate, leading the child to feel responsible or to blame for the situation.
- Making inappropriate or sexualised comments about their relationship with the child or the child's body.
- Spending one-on-one time with a child in isolated or private areas rather than in visible, supervised spaces or offering parents to babysit.
- Using physical affection even when the child shows discomfort, reluctance or resistance e.g. telling the child to kiss them.
- Overstepping social and professional boundaries e.g. showing up to child's birthday party uninvited with a gift, offers to do things for you, like repairs or gardening.
- Being alone with a child when there is no professional reason for doing so.
- Neglect: Occurs when a child's basic needs are not met, impacting their health or development. this includes (not limited to) inadequate food, shelter, hygiene, medical care, clothing or supervision. The Australian Institute of Family Studies identifies six types of neglect: physical neglect, supervisory neglect, abandonment, educational neglect, medical neglect and emotional neglect.
- Inappropriate Discipline: Any form of corporal punishment, or any disciplinary practice that is unreasonable or inappropriate. It is an offence under Section 166 of the Education and Care Services National Law for a nominated supervisor, teacher or educator to subject a child to corporal punishment or to discipline that is unreasonable or inappropriate. Examples of inappropriate discipline include (but not limited to):
 - physically dragging, hitting, pushing, slapping, pinching or biting a child

Interactions with Children Procedure and Supporting Children's Behaviour Procedure lists examples of inappropriate interactions with children and behaviour guidance strategies.
- Inappropriate conduct: any behaviour or action by a C&K representative that is directed toward a child and causes, or has the potential to cause, harm. It also includes behaviour that undermines a child's safety, dignity, rights, or overall wellbeing. Examples include, but are not limited to:
 - any form of child abuse physical, emotional, sexual (including grooming) and neglect.
 - corporal punishment or any form inappropriate discipline.
 - ignoring a child needs, deliberately causing a child emotional distress.
 - yelling, shaming, belittling or using threatening or intimidating language toward a child.

Interactions with Children Procedure and Supporting Children's Behaviour Procedure lists examples of inappropriate interactions with children and behaviour guidance strategies.
- Restraint: Any action that limits a child's movement or freedom. Unreasonable restraint occurs when physical control is used inappropriately, excessively, or as punishment. This includes holding a child when there is no immediate safety risk, using force that causes pain or injury, or restraining a child to control behaviour or enforce compliance. Restraint should only ever be used to protect from imminent harm, never to discipline, intimidate, or manage behaviour, and any instance of restraint should be carefully documented and reviewed to ensure it was reasonable and necessary. Reasonable restraint may occur when it is absolutely necessary to prevent immediate harm to the child or others, for example, stopping a child from running into traffic, physically harming themselves, or attacking another person. In such situations, restraint should be:
 - Proportionate to the risk of harm,
 - Used only as a last resort
 - For the shortest time necessary, and
 - Performed in a safe and respectful manner that protects the child's dignity.
